Wed In Afternoon Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Ella Jacqueline Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe David Wilson of Charlottesville, to Mr. Roy Frank Cheatham, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wingfield Cheatham of Spout Spring, took place Saturday, July 16, in Pleasant View Baptist Church, Lynchburg, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. J. G. Harvey, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Prior to the ceremony, Mr. Rayford Sowell, organist, presented a program of nuptial music. Preceding the ceremony Miss Kathleen Fidler of Sharps, accompanying herself on the guitar, sang "For Baby, For Bobby" and after the wedding vows were spoken, she sang "Annie's Song."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was given in marriage by both parents.

The bride wore a gown of white sheer organza. The empire bodice was styled with an oval neckline and accented with a tiered capelet collar. The soft skirt was trimmed with a circular flounce. Her headpiece was a cluster of organza flowers centered with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and baby's breath, centered with a white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Raymond Hasenfus, of Charlottesville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown in an empire silhouette designed with a capelet collar and ruffled hemline of maize dotted swiss accented with a maize satin ribbon. She carried the long stemmed yellow silk roses accented by streamers of nile green ribbon.

Mrs. William Moore of Spout Spring, sister of the groom, Mrs. Robert Stauffler of Roanoke, and Miss Francis Tidler of Lynchburg, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses identical to the matron of honor of nile green dotted swiss accented with a nile green satin ribbon. They carried a long stemmed yellow silk rose with streamers of maize satin ribbon.

Mr. Ralph Spencer Cheatham of Spout Spring, brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Harold Torrence Cheatham and Marshall Wayde Cheatham, brothers of the groom and of Spout Spring and Raymond Kenneth Hasenfus of Charlottesville.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of green and white knit. She wore a corsage of carnations and baby's breath.

The mother of the groom wore a street length dress of lavender knit. She wore a corsage of carnations and baby's breath.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social hall. Mrs. Ralph Cheatham and Mrs. Thacker Cheatham registered the guests at the door.

Mrs. Haywood Nuckles and Mrs. Lawrence Sayre, sisters of the groom, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Bill Berekley and Mrs. William McBride presided at the punch bowl.

For travel the bride chose a kelly green linen dress with yellow accessories. She wore a white orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride and groom will boneymoon in Florida.

Wed In Evening Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Linda Elizabeth Elder to Curtis Lynn DeMuth took place at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in Fairview Christian Church, Lynchburg, Va.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie F. Elder of Lynchburg, and the bridegroom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Phillip E. DeMuth of Edinburg.

The Rev. Willie E. Davis, pastor of the church and the Rev. DeMuth, pastor of Edinburg United Methodist Church and father of the bridegroom, officiated.

A program of nupital music was presented by Miss Margaret Anne Wood, cousin of the bride, organist and Dr. Wayne Keffer of Appomattox, Virginia soloist.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white qiana. The empire bodice was finished with a high victorian neckline of re-embroidered alencon lace. A bib of lace enhanced the bodice neckline and appliqued in Venice lace formed a coverup to the bodice. She carried a bouquet of White & Yellow daisies.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Earl Morton, Jr. of Phenix, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Jeanne Nash of Appomattox and Miss Susan Perrow of Lynchburg, cousins of the bride and Mrs. Linda M. Masehal of Lynchburg Their dresses were identical to the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies.

John Cook, Jr. of South Hampton, Pa. was best man and ushers were Roger DeMuth and Richard DeMuth of Phenix, brothers of the bridegroom; Wayne Elder of Americus, brother of the bride, and Paul Brewer of Silver Spring, Md.

Miss Staci Hughes and Miss Traci Swain of Lynchburg, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Their floor length dresses were of white dotted swiss, accented with nile green. Rodney DeMuth of Phenix, nephew of the bridegroom was ring bearer.

Miss Sherrie Hughes of Lynchburg registered the guests and Mr. Gray Nash of Appomattox issued the programs.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Elder entertained with a reception in the church fellowship hall with Mrs. D. S. Nash of Appomattox serving as hostess. Punch was ladeled by Mrs. Emmett Kidd, cousin of the bride and Mrs. M. R. Hanna, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Inez Wood of Richmond and aunt of bride, and Mrs. Christine Farrar of Richmond, cousin of the bride cut the cake.

The bride is a graduate of E. C. Glass High School, attended Central Virginia Community College and received a B. S. degree in biology from Longwood College. She has accepted a teaching position with the Nottoway County School Board She did her student teaching at Appomattox County High School.

Denise Kaeding is Bride of Ray Metz at Thawville

St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Thawville was the setting for the 7 p.m. candlelight wedding on Saturday, June 18, uniting Denise Kaeding of Thawville and Ray E. Metz of Roberts in holy double ring ceremony held before 200 guests was Rev. Tom Willadsen with the former pastor, Rev. Karl Breehne of Ottawa giving the address. Mrs. Joyce Uebele of Roberts sang three songs accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Cole of Melvin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown fashioned by Alfred Angelo made of poly organza. The dress had a high neckline with the bodice and full skirt in chantilly and re-embroidered laces. Seed pearls covered the bodice as well as the cuffs on the bishop sleeves. The lace trimmed hem line swept into a chapel train. The headpiece of the full cathedral veil edged in re-embroidered lace matching that on the dress was also decorated with seed pearls. The bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her great grandmother and wore a pin which belonged to her great grandfather.

Her flowers were a bouquet of white daisies and peach carnations surrounded by baby's breath.

Miss Cheryl Metzger of Joliet, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her gown was a floor length dress of blue chiffon printed with peach roses and lined with a powder blue cotton. The dress had a ruffled hemline and flounce collar caplet. All of the attendant's dresses were made by the bride.

In her hair, she wore a wreath of flowers containing white and blue daisies, peach carnations, and baby's breath. She carried a hurricane candle surrounded by white and blue daisies, peach carnations, baby's breath, and greenery.

Miss Shannon Cleary, Normal, friend of the couple, and Miss Crystal Copas, Thawville, friend of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses and hair pieces were identical to the maid of honor's. They also carried candles decorated with flowers. Flowergirl was Miss Michelle Weston of Roberts, friend of the groom. Her dress featured a pinafore apron made from the blue chiffon print, over a dress with an empire waistline made from the powder blue cotton. She carried a basket which had been crocheted by the groom's grandmother, Flora Winterland.

Steve Shaw, of Astoria, friend of the groom was the best man. Roger Metz, Roberts, brother of the groom, and Mark Kaeding, Thawville, brother of the bride were attendants. Paul Hoover, Normal, friend of the couple, and James Zambon, Piper City, friend of the bride, ushered in the guests. All of the gentlemen wore tuxedos by After Six in a light grey color. Stuart Kaeding, Onarga, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer. He carried a pillow of satin and lace sewn and fashioned by the bride. His tuxedo had tails, matching that of the groom.

Mrs. Metz chose a floor length gown of jade taffeta styled with an empire waistline accented with matching beads and a high neckline with self rolled collar. A matching chiffon overlay accentuated the gown. Mr. Metz, too, wore a tuxedo complimenting his wife's dress.

Both mothers wore a wristlet corsage of two sonia roses with white daisies and a peach bow.

The reception followed the ceremony at the First United Presbyterian Church in Piper City. Miss Lynn Saxsma, Normal, and Miss Marcy Sherfey, Normal, friends of the couple, accepted gifts. Assisting the serving were Miss Nancy King, Mrs. Sharon Barney, Mrs. Peg Chandler, and Mrs. Pam Schwarz.

The couple will be at home in Bloomington after June 24 following a wedding trip to the Lake Superior area.

The bride graduated from Ford Central High School in 1976 and attended Illinois State University at Normal. She is presently employed by Pizza Hut in Bloomington.

The bridegroom graduated in May of 1977 from Illinois State University with a bachelor of science degree in library science. He will be working on his master's degree in that area in the fall at Indiana University located at Bloomington, Ind. He is currently employed by Milner Library, Normal.

Miss Kaeding is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler of Appomattox, Va.

Care of Sleeping Bags

Camping comfort and enjoyment depend largely on having the right gear and giving it proper care. The key is to shop carefully for equipment, especially for sleeping bags which often pose a large investment. Discuss particular needs with a dealer and spend time learning about various products.

Sleeping bags come in rectangular, tapered or mummy styles and in several sizes. They are designed for different temperature ranges, from 40°F. to -20°F. There are washable liners available which provide additional warmth and help keep the bag itself clean.

A quality sleeping bag has two double zipper zippers that allow it to be opened both from the top and the bottom for ventilation control. Another feature to look for is a flap covering the zipper which keeps out cold and is comfortable against the sleeper.

The outer shell of a camping sleeping bag is generally a synthetic fiber, water repellent, though not waterproof. Down or polyester are the most popular fill materials. There are bags within bags. The inner bag is insulated with down and the outer with polyester. They may be used separately for warm weather or together for sub-zero weather.

The advantages of polyester fill are that it dries much more quickly than down and maintains a high percentage of loft even when wet. This makes it a good choice for excursions in wet weather or those that include canoeing, rafting and other situations where gear can get wet.

The advantages of down are that it is warmer; has greater loft per pound, making it lighter in weight; and better compressibility than man-made fill. These points make down worthwhile for backpacking and comfortable for all uses.

All sleeping bags should be kept dry. This is especially important for a down-filled bag, which loses its loft and once soaked takes days to dry out. Shake and air bags daily while camping.

Once home, manufacturers suggest machine or hand washing for both synthetic and down-filled sleeping bags. Read labels for fiber content and care instructions. Generally, dry cleaning is not recommended for a synthetic sleeping bag fill since this can seriously damage the loft characteristics. A down bag may be dry cleaned, however.

Sleeping bag manufacturers suggest the use of a tumble type washer with a warm wash, in order to keep the loft intact.

Presoak the bag if heavily soiled, then wash. Thorough rinsing is important.

Machine dry on warm setting. Down may take several cycles to completely dry. Remove the bag several times during the drying operation. Shake or pat to break up damp clumps. A couple of clean bath towles in the dryer aids drying and helps break apart clumps of down.

To handwash, use the bathtub. Presoak, wash gently in warm water and rinse thoroughly. Then press out excess water; do not wring. The bag will still be quite wet so lift carefully. Air dry by placing the bag flat on a meshed surface, such as a yard chaise with plastic webbing. As it dries, gently pull apart dammp clumps.

Store a synthetic-filled bag inside a large storage bag in a flat or loosely rolled state. When not in use, store a down bag loosely in a clean, dry place or in a large breathable storage sack. Down needs air, so never store in a stuff sack. After taking a bag out of storage, shake and fluff it to allow air to circulate throughout the down to develop its maximum loft.

With proper care, sleeping bags will last many years to give comfort, warmth and

"What's happened to us?" wails Jeanette Fisher (Joyce Sweet) as she repulses the advances of Barney Cashman (Robert Webber) in Neil Simon's "Last of the Red Hot Lovers", opening Thursday, July 21st on the John H. Daniel Campus of SVCC.

Neil Simon Comedy Launches Daniel Player Summer Season

Keysville - Neil Simon's great Broadway hit, "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" launches the Daniel Players' Summer Repertory season Thursday evening, July 21st, at 8:30 p.m. on the John H. Daniel Campus of SVCC.

The play traces the misfortunes of Barney Cashman, a middle aged seafood restaurateer, who decides to join the sexual revolution of the 60s. His targets are a cool customer, a freaky filly, and his wife's best friend. The play is typical Neil Simon - frothy as a bubble bath with witty lines and absurd situations.

The four character play is being acted by three Daniel Player veterans and a newcomer to the group. The veterans include Robert Weber as the slightly long-in-the-tooth would by satyr, Donna Emmerson as the cool customer, and Mary T. Vaughan as the spaced out young girl.

Making her Daniel Player debut is Joyce Sweet of Pamplin. She is the dramatic coach for Appomattox High School and will play the wife's good friend.

Dudley Sauve who has guided the Daniel Players through three years of hit performances once again is in the director's chair.

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" opens with a Gala Evening, July 21st, and will run through the 23rd. It will be repeated July 28th through the 30th. Curtain time is 8:30 P.M.
